

THE SHORES

DINE ON THE BEACH

Fact Sheet

Description

The Shores Restaurant focuses on exceptional quality and fresh local ingredients. The restaurant's surfside views and inviting atmosphere make for a dining experience you won't soon forget. The Shores serves breakfast, lunch, dinner, nightly specials, and an a la carte Sunday Brunch, along with unparalleled views of the Pacific Ocean just outside the floor-to-ceiling windows, which run the length of the dining room and adjacent lounge.

The Shores culinary team is led by executive chef Bernard Guillas and chef de cuisine Augie Saucedo. Chef Bernard oversees the resort's three restaurants and all catering operations for the La Jolla Beach & Tennis Club, The Shores at the La Jolla Shores Hotel, and the landmark Marine Room restaurant. As Executive Chef, he creates all menus, wine lists and special events. Chef Augie is a member of the Chefs de Cuisine Association of San Diego, a professional member of the American Institute of Wine and Food and a former member of the California Culinary Team. His eclectic style adds a depth and dimension to a restaurant which prides itself on a commitment to providing the freshest ingredients possible.

AUGUSTIN SAUCEDO

Chef de Cuisine

La Jolla, California – “Augie” Saucedo grew up in a home surrounded by great cooks and even greater food. His mom was a great home cook and his dad was a chef at the Disneyland Hotel. His home in Riverside, California provided the fresh ingredients that tickled his taste buds at an early age. Saucedo also had the good fortune of spending five years in South America where the exposure to various cultures and cuisines cemented his desire to become a chef.

After a year in the culinary arts program at Orange Coast Community College, Saucedo landed a job and the nationally renowned Mission Inn in Riverside. Taken under the wing of executive chef Joe D. Cochran, he learned every station in the kitchen and finished his four year stint as a restaurant chef.

This talented young man then traveled south to Coronado where he became executive chef of the now closed Chameleon Café where he was responsible for menu development and hiring of the culinary staff. From there, he moved to the San Diego Convention Center where he worked under executive chef Brett Lewis. Here he honed his skills in large banquet production.

An opportunity to try his wings and establish his own style came as chef de cuisine at the Shelter Pointe Hotel and Marina. Here Saucedo developed new menus for the entire hotel and managed both the front and back of the house restaurant operations.

Saucedo brings to the Shores Restaurant a wealth of training and experience. His eclectic style will add a new dimension to the restaurant which prides itself on the freshest ingredients possible at affordable prices. Saucedo is a member of the Chefs de Cuisine Association of San Diego, a former member of the California Culinary Team, and a professional member of The American Institute of Wine & Food.

LISA REDWINE, CS

Restaurant Manager

La Jolla, California – As Restaurant Manager, Redwine is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the Shores Restaurant, including the main dining room, adjacent bar, and outdoor patio. All room service, beach, and poolside food & beverage operations for the La Jolla Shores Hotel are also under her direction. She is also responsible for staff training and retention and wine program operations. Additionally, she is pursuing the advanced level for the Court of Master Sommeliers.

Prior to joining The Shores Restaurant team, she served as General Manager and Hotel Wine Director at Molly's Restaurant & Bar at the Marriott Hotel, San Diego.

Lisa Redwine brings a whole new level of dining room service and wine knowledge to the San Diego community. Having worked as a professional chef and general manager for some of the finest restaurants in San Francisco, Redwine elevates dining to an art form, where service, atmosphere, food and wine intermingle to form a feast for all the senses.

Growing up in Madison, Wisconsin, Redwine was exposed at a young age to farmer's markets, freshly baked breads and delicious home cooking. The grand daughter of a butcher and a cheese maker, Redwine learned the importance of fresh handcrafted foods. Redwine enrolled at the University of Wisconsin Stout, where she received a degree in Hotel and Restaurant Management and then attended the Culinary Institute of America, where she graduated with honors with a degree in Culinary Arts.

Following graduation, Redwine moved to San Francisco, where she began her internship under the direction of George Morrone and Michael Mina at the highly acclaimed Aqua. From there, Redwine moved to Liberte, where she worked for Executive Chef Elka Gilmore, who also had roots in Madison Wisconsin. As a woman chef, and mentor, Gilmore provided Redwine with the opportunity to meet some of the food industry's greatest names, including Roger Verge and Jaques Pepin. After moving on to the small four star restaurant Heights with Charles Soloman, Redwine left the kitchen to work front-of-the-house, eventually as General Manager, at the renowned Cypress Club under restaurateur extraordinaire, John Cunin. Redwine then joined the Grand Cafe as assistant General Manager where she worked with General Manager Umberto Gibin. There, she developed a wine program that garnered awards from Wine Spectator and Sante magazines.

She also brings with her multiple food and beverage certifications, including: Certified Sommelier from Court of Master Sommeliers, Certified Wine Professional and an AOS Degree in Culinary Arts from the Culinary Institute of America. In her free time, she enjoys fixing-up her new home with her husband and son.

The Shores Restaurant focuses on exceptional quality and fresh local ingredients. The restaurant's surfside views and inviting atmosphere make for a dining experience you won't soon forget.
